

CLOCKS MOVED AHEAD IN N. Y. TODAY

Confusion May Result from Failure of Neighboring States to Do Likewise.

New York, March 27.—Daylight saving goes into effect in New York State tomorrow morning at 2 o'clock when all the timepieces will be set ahead to 3 o'clock. It will remain in force until 2 a. m. on the last Sunday in October, unless something happens in the interim to upset the law.

Considerable confusion is expected tomorrow morning when the plan to conserve daylight begins operation. The neighboring States that do not set their clocks ahead will find themselves functioning one hour behind New York time, and commuters are likely to find themselves missing their business appointments.

Milk Man May Be Late.
President Loton Horton, of the Sheffield Milk Company, says milk cannot be delivered before it comes to town and since it comes mostly from places where the clocks are not changed the milk will reach New York consumer an hour later.

But the most serious obstacle the law will face will be the opposition of the farmers and the agricultural districts to its enforcement. The farmers are threatening to produce less food if the law is not repealed, insisting that nature doesn't fall in with daylight saving.

Farm bureaus throughout the State are urging farmers to hold protest meetings to have the law repealed. Attorney General Charles D. Newton says that unless some action is taken by the State, serious business complications will arise from conflicts between State and Federal time.

Wire Service Affected.
Confusion is expected in the telegraph service, the clocks of the Western Union not being changed. Commercial messages from New York, however, will be handled one hour earlier than usual, Federal time. The Federal Reserve Bank, of New York, will change its time. Ocean-going liners will run on the old time. All commuting railroads except the Pennsylvania will conform to the daylight-saving law.

Marcus M. Marks, president of the Daylight Saving Association, today warned advocates of the extra hour of light that a desperate attempt will be made Monday in the State assembly to repeal the State daylight saving system.

American Engineer Killed In Peru Street Car Wreck

New York, March 27.—Death of Frank W. Throp, 52, engineer, in a street car accident in Lima, Peru, Wednesday was reported in advices received today at the office of W. R. Grace and Company, steamship and railway owners.

Throp had been in South America two years.

Here For Address Before Press Club

DR. NICHOLAS M. BUTLER.
President of Columbia University, who has promised to get down to "naked truths" in his address to the National Press Club tomorrow night, arrived in Washington last night and immediately unburdened himself of a few comments uncompromisingly to the American foreign policy.

"Failure to ratify the peace treaty, and some of the incidents accompanying discussions of the last fifteen months," he said, "have brought us as a people face to face with the question, 'What is to be the American foreign policy?' At present everything is at sixes and sevens, and despite the splendid achievements of the war, we have succeeded in arousing world-wide suspicion and dislike. Our allies and associates, powers, one, Belgium, has, I think, escaped a more or less direct affront."

Dr. Butler has just completed a tour of the Southern States.

RADIUM SUPPLY IS NEARLY GONE

Medical Profession Alarmed
At Threatened Exhaustion of Mineral.

London, March 27.—European physicians and surgeons are becoming seriously alarmed at the prospect of early exhaustion of the world's supply of radium. Supplies are becoming increasingly harder to find. Ores from which it was hoped radium might be extracted have proved valueless.

It takes scores of tons of ore to yield a single gram of radium, and a vast amount of labor recently has been expended on the extraction process without obtaining even a fraction of a gram. A great advance in the price of radium, which is now $8,000 a gram, is expected in the near future.

In preparation for a famine of the precious mineral the British Radium Institute is preparing a weak solution of radium which gives off invisible emanations. The latter is being bottled and supplied to doctors.

DRY LAW VOID ROOT CONTENTS

Asserts Only 24 States Have Actually Ratified the Amendment.

Only twenty-four States have actually ratified the prohibition amendment, Elihu Root contended yesterday in a brief filed in the Supreme Court for Christian Polsgeman, New Jersey brewer, attacking the validity of constitutional prohibition. As thirty-six ratifications are necessary, Root holds the amendment is void. He admits forty-five State legislatures have ratified, but asserts the question in twenty-one of them must be submitted to a referendum, according to the State constitutions.

He enumerated these States as follows: South Dakota, Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Oklahoma, Maine, Missouri, Michigan, Arkansas, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Ohio, California, Nebraska, Washington, North Dakota, Mississippi, Maryland, Utah and Massachusetts.

The Weather

MURDERED CHILD KICKED TO DEATH

Steubenville, Ohio, March 27.—"Kicked to death," was the verdict given today by Coroner T. H. Kirk upon completing investigation into the murder of 11-year-old Frances South, whose body was found at Adena, near here.

Meanwhile posses continued scouring the county for the murderers. Traces of a terrific struggle the girl made for her life were found near her body. Footprints indicated she had been attacked by more than one man.

The imprint of a heel was plainly visible on the girl's forehead. That blow fractured her skull, Kirk believes.

Feeling against four negro suspects still was running high and officials decided to bring the prisoners to the Jefferson County jail for identification instead of risking their lives against the heavily-armed citizens of Adena.

Mother Held as Kidnapper Of 12-Year-Old Daughter

Philadelphia, March 27.—Mrs. Charles Scanlon was arrested here today on the charge of kidnapping her own daughter when the child, Catherine Hibbs, 12 years old, was found in her home. Her husband also was taken into custody. They also were taken to Doylestown for a hearing.

Little Catherine had been missing from her father's home in Hupleville since Wednesday. The arrests were made on a warrant sworn out by Arthur Hibbs, a wealthy farmer, who was Mrs. Scanlon's first husband, and bring to a climax a fight of three years between the father and mother for possession of the child.

Swift Expert Admits Campaign for Cheaper Meat Cuts Will Increase Prices.

Admission that the Department of Justice campaign to reduce the cost of living by increasing the demand for the cheaper cuts of meat will actually result in increased prices and be of no benefit to the poor was made by Swift & Company's representative, Professor L. D. H. Weld, economist, testifying before the House Committee on Agriculture in the course of the hearings now in progress on the Anderson bill to regulate the meat packing industry. The statement of Professor Weld on this subject, in response to questions by members of the committee and others present, was repeated several times as shown in the following stenographic report of the hearing:

Mr. Weld: "If a demand were created for the cheaper cuts, the price of the cheaper cuts would be raised, but it would bring down the price of the higher cuts."

Representative Haugen, of Iowa, chairman of the committee: "To what extent have you co-operated with the Department of Justice? How do you co-operate?"

Mr. Weld: By getting people to demand cheaper cuts. At present the cheaper cuts have to be sold at cheaper price to make them move."

Congressman Haugen: "And the Department of Justice is trying to make it move?"

Mr. Weld: "It is always sold right along."

Miss Jessie Haver, legislative representative of the National Consumers' League: "Then this campaign to get the consumers to buy the cheaper cuts on the theory that it will bring down the cost of living" will really result in increased prices?"

Mr. Weld: "If it is successful, it will."

Congressman Voigt, of Wisconsin: "If this campaign is effective, it will not help the man who is already buying the cheaper cuts? It will increase the price to him?"

Mr. Weld: "There will be no benefit to the poor."

Congressman Voigt: "This campaign will raise the price of the cheaper cuts of meat?"

Mr. Weld: "It will raise the prices, yes."

DARING COLORS MARK FASHIONS

London East End Sets Pace For Striking Millinery And Clothing.

London women who like their clothes to have a "copyright" note have discovered that the East-end almost rivals the West-end in the number of "cute" little shops which are springing up.

Whitechapel, Mile End-road, and Commercial-road are the thoroughfares in which these little millinery and blouse shops blossom most profusely. There is taste in the way five or six hats and blouses and little frocks, are arranged in a small window, across which is splashed, in great gold and black letters, a fanciful name.

"Most of the girls who set up for themselves in these little shops have probably graduated in a West-end workshop," said the manager of a big millinery establishment when asked to explain, if he could, the "chic" which distinguishes the Whitechapel models.

"Jewish people have an extraordinary color sense. If you analyze the contents of one of the shops you are referring to you will find that a great part of the success lies in daring but supremely 'right' color schemes."

"These girls are artists in their way, and making use of the love for strong, true colors which Westernization has not taught their race to forget, they produce wonderful results."

DEAD REMOVAL HELD MISTAKE

Mother, Who Lost Son in France, Wants Body Left In Foreign Soil.

Gold star mothers of America were addressed, in New York, by Mrs. Mabel Fonda Gareisen, whose only son, Lieut. Scott McCormick, was the first officer to lose his life in the war. Her message follows: "Bringing to America the bodies of our soldiers who fell in France is a subject that has reached a climax throughout our country. With all the discussions pro and con by men, few of whom are personally touched by grief, the gold star women, these most deeply concerned, have been conspicuous by their silence. With many the matter was settled when their beloved ones were buried; in France their bodies should lie in peace."

"As a gold star mother, who served with the A. E. F. in France, and whose only child lies here, I now make a plea to all my sisters who suffer the same anguish I do."

"When our boys went to France, we were promised that the dead as well as the living should be returned, we would have been spared the additional distress to which we are now being subjected. Before making such a promise our government should have considered the hideous menace it would be both to France and America to bring over 50,000 mangled, decomposed bodies from that country to this."

"The sacrifice is unbelievable; still that is just what is being agitated, what we are facing—one of the greatest disgraces that have ever descended upon America. Deep wounds that time has helped us to endure will be torn cruelly open, to bleed afresh. For what? For bank accounts for steamship companies, coffinmakers and undertakers."
